

10 Really Good Reasons to HATE our Software

1. Using our software will severely reduce your overtime earning opportunities.

Our software will make you vastly more productive. Get used to going home early.

2. You might actually start to like your IT department.

No, really. Instead of complaining that you have to wait forever for IT to produce the reports you need, you can do it yourself - immediately.

3. It's not intellectually challenging.

I'm afraid we've made the software far too intuitive and easy to use, it's just not challenging enough. Sorry.

4. You don't have a great excuse for a coffee break.

Our software runs awesomely quick so the days of having to wait 20 minutes for your report to run have gone.

5. It's not a spreadsheet.

We know how much you love them but it's like eating junk food – it might provide instant gratification, it's not good for you in the long term.

6. It's boring.

Our software runs in real time, delivering consistently accurate, relevant and timely information with no unpredictability whatsoever. How dull is that!?

7. It doesn't run in a web browser.

We distribute our software via the web but provide you with a decent interface you might actually enjoy using.

8. You can't show off your juggling skills.

You don't spend 6 months having to project manage the implementation, while simultaneously coping with the demands of your real job. It takes less than an hour to get up and running with our software against your own data. Where's the fun in that!?

9. It's scary.

Our software works directly with the underlying ERP data so you can actually see what's really happening in your business.

10. No one likes a smarty pants.

Not content with solving your reporting problems, you'll resolve data integrity issues with ease, answer ad-hoc inquiries like swatting flies, and optimize entire business processes. That's going to make a lot of people jealous.
